Description:	Porto Silva Reis Tawny is a high quality Port wine from the upper Douro in the north of Portugal. The blend has matured on wood, before the bottling took place. Port is made by interrupting of the fermentation by addition of alcohol. The white Silva Reis Port is of the highest quality. It comes from the Upper Douro Region in Northern Portugal. The blend has matured on wood, before the bottling took place. Port is made by interrupting of the fermentation by addition of alcohol. A high quality 10 year old Port wine from the upper Douro in the North of Portugal. For this Port only blends with a certificate of age are used. The long maturation and aging in barrels gives the typical characteristics to this Port with also an intense woody taste and an amber appearance. Fleshy and complex on the palate. Very long and beautiful finish.
